

St. Helens Safeguarding Children Partnership

Atlas House
Corporation Street
St Helens
Merseyside
WA9 1LD

31st August 2022

To whom it may concern

I am writing this reference regarding the work completed by Charlotte Dunn and this letter may be treated as my personal recommendation regarding her work and ethos.

The Safeguarding Children Partnership approached our colleges in Autumn 2021, to request whether our art and design students may be able to support us in creating a marketing campaign in order to tackle neglect across the borough.

In response, Charlotte, despite this being a voluntary initiative, accepted brief and produced exceptional designs. She pitched her work confidently and competently to myself and my colleague. Practitioners from the Safeguarding Children Partnership were astounded at the level of quality and professionalism displayed. The materials created by Charlotte perfectly encapsulated the issues and she showed insight into safeguarding topics which we normally see displayed only by experienced professionals.

Charlotte has gone above and beyond, working throughout the summer break, producing an array of images and materials which will be used across multiple agencies as well as in the community. The quality of work exceeded our expectations and has rivalled materials produced by professional marketing organisations.

Charlotte has displayed excellent communication skills as well as high levels of professionalism. Senior multi-agency partners have reviewed the work and are equally thrilled with the results.

It has been my absolute pleasure and honour to work with Charlotte. I have no doubt that she will go on to achieve highly and will be a credit to any organisation she is part of.

Yours sincerely

H. Addison
Heather Addison
Safeguarding Children in Education Coordinator